

When You're Sensitive

Many highly sensitive people (HSP) have gone undiagnosed. Until recently there has not been very much known about the highly sensitive personality. But it should be noted that highly sensitive people are extremely vulnerable and extremely sensitive to things others consider normal. The highly sensitive personality is indeed a rare gift. For the highly sensitive person is unusually trustworthy, loyal, very trusting, loving beyond all measure, will treat you as if you were themselves, very gifted, highly intelligent etc. Once a highly sensitive person is wounded, it may take a good while for them to heal up. Especially if they have been suffering wounds for years. The highly sensitive person is a rare treasure, please be patient, gentle and delicate with them. For they are easily bruised. They can be severely wounded by just one word. So then they will never need to be harshly corrected. They are very talented. They are a walking, beautiful heart. If you find one, be good to them and they will be faithful to you even to the end of the earth and beyond...
