

Powerkids Readers: Safari Animals

This informational and engaging series supplies the answers to questions curious minds are asking: what hippos eat, which lions have manes, and the name for a group of warthogs. Beginning readers will enjoy learning about the array of exotic animals profiled in these exciting, and highly factual, books. Incredible photos accompany each book's short, accessible text. A picture glossary highlights key terms from the book, while an index and table of contents help familiarize readers with the features of nonfiction books. Every book has its own website that links to more information about the book's topic, making nonfiction learning fun and engaging for all readers.
