

Legislative Regulation of Dependency Court Attorneys: Public Relations and Separation of Powers (Journal of Legislation, Volume 24, pp. 3-20, 1998)

This article analyzes the codes of professional conduct in relation to the duties of confidentiality, loyalty, zealousness, and competence of court-appointed child advocates in child protection proceedings. It further demonstrates how many legislative regulations governing those appointments violate separation of powers because of state supreme courts inherent and/or plenary power over attorney regulation.
